

Soviet Nautical Code Flag for "Foxtrot" (letter F), dated 1991.

The same flag stands for the Russian letter "Zh" (Zhivite) in the Soviet naval code.

In wool bunting, same quality and construction as the typical Soviet Navy ensign and other naval flags of the period. Measures 3.5' x 4.5'. Comes with a long attachment rope, complete with metal hardware to hoist on the line. The hoist sleeve shows markings of the Vladimirskaia Factory, quality control stamp, manufacturing standard code "GOST" and a 1991 date of manufacture.

In fair to good condition. There are some significant moth holes located mostly near or at the far edge of the flag. They do not threaten the integrity of the flag, and it will still display nicely. The flag is perfectly clean, and the colors are bright, not showing any fading.
