

Marshals And Fleet Admirals Of The Soviet Union, by A Kutsenko.

Kiev, C. 2000, Russian text. Very nicely illustrated with dozens of clear and large color photos. Hardcover, large format 12" by 8" book with 376 pp.

Complete encyclopedia of every person who ever held the highest Soviet military ranks - that of Marshal of the Soviet Union or Admiral of the Fleet of the Soviet Union. The book contains biographical information and many interesting details never before published, such as complete listings of their awards, dates of issue and serial numbers, too. It also lists the foreign awards that each Marshal received - particularly handy if you have a photo of one of these high ranking officers and want to identify the orders and medals that he is wearing.

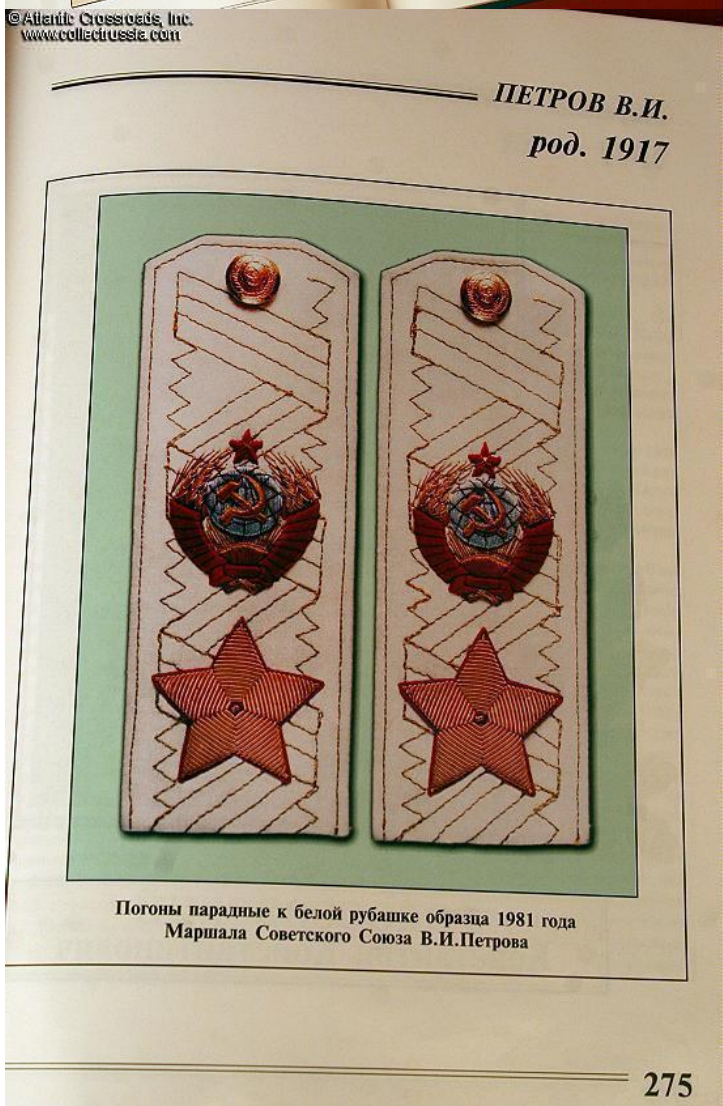

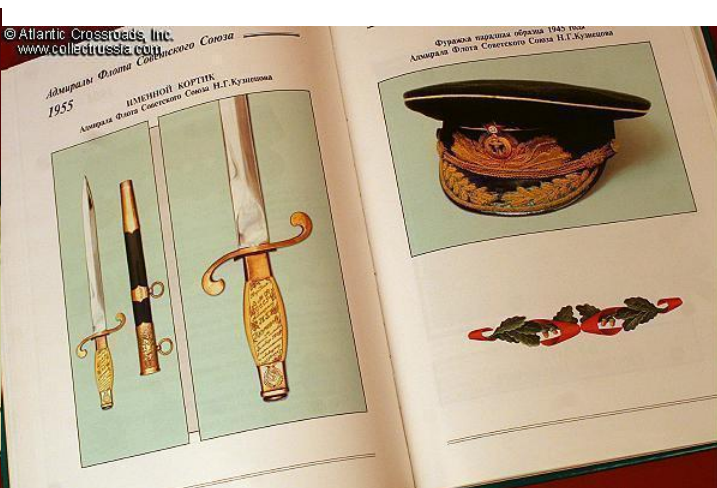

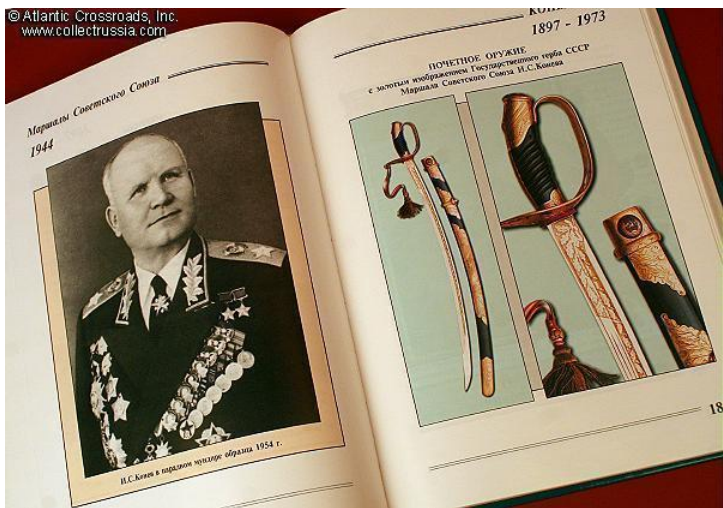

Illustrations include not only awards, but also personal artifacts such as honor pistols and swords, uniforms and so on that once belonged to top Soviet military commanders. Truly an outstanding reference for Soviet collectors and historians alike.

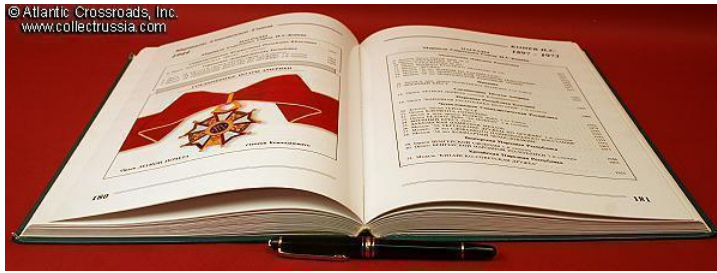

We have only a single copy of this scarce out of print publication. It is in brand-new unused condition, having only minor corner bumps and tiny amount of shelf wear to the cover, otherwise mint.
