

General's boots, c 1950s-60s.

In fine quality black leather, white leather lining. Field worn condition but still very sound.

Approximately Size 42 (about a US size 8 1/2 - 9) - measures 13 1/2" around the ankle, 13" around the top, and 11 5/8" heel to toe). In fine quality black leather, with the white leather lining frequently associated with boots made for Generals. Version with boot straps.

Used with some scuffing but in good condition, will classify as very good to excellent after a once over with a good leather treatment and a thorough polishing.

While these are authentic Soviet general's boots, an earlier owner endeavored to represent them as being of a WW 2 vintage by stamping the insides with the date "1945"! Several other unfamiliar stamp marks have also been added to the interior. On a mannikin and brought to a good polish, however, these would still be perfect for display with a general's field uniform.
