

Rare Army Officer wearing tunic and bearing a Saint George Sword, full length studio portrait circa early 1900s, basic carte-de-visite format.

Excellent condition. Measures approximately 3 3/16" x 6 7/16", with image height of 5 5/8". Very sharp and practically unblemished image allows an exciting and informative study of the details of the uniform and clearly visible St. George Sword that could have been awarded only for an act of outstanding bravery and valor in combat.

The backing is marked "W. Laub, Tarnopol" at the bottom. A more elaborate logo of the photo studio is printed on the verso with lettering "W. Laub, Photographer. City of Tarnopol, 35 Mickiewicza Street. Negatives are preserved."

Perfect item for display, particularly in a collection that already includes a St. George presentation weapon for bravery!
