

Lenin, a bronze finished statue by the sculptor Zavalov shows the leader posed as if about to deliver a speech, cast circa late 1970s.

14" tall, 3 1/2" x 3 1/2" base. Foundry mark and the sculptor's name on the back of the base. Soviet era price of 12 Rubles. Quite heavy.

Very good to excellent condition. The figure evidently once had a uniform bronze plating that, coupled with the figure's weight, probably convinced the first buyer that this was actually cast of bronze. The plating has worn through in many places but the sculpted details are still quite nice and make this figure worth possibly having replated.

The Lenin Centenary Medal shown in our last photograph is not included.
