

Soviet Aeroflot Civil Airlines Flight Attendant's badge, circa 1970s-80s issue.

In aluminum and paint, measures 54 mm wide. There is a Soviet era maker mark on the reverse. The badge is in excellent condition, free of scuffs to the paint or visible wear to the gold finish on the wings. The pin attachment is fully functional.

This badge was a part of the uniform of Aeroflot stewardess during the Soviet period. Although the Aeroflot is still operating under the same name as national airline of Russian Federation, its uniforms and badges are now completely different from was used during the Soviet era.
