

Air Force Navigator badge, 1st class, 1966 type, circa late 1960s - 1980s.

Brass, enamels; measures 27.8 mm in height, 72.6 mm in width. Star-shaped maker mark of the Moscow's Pobeda Factory on the reverse of one of the wings (left when viewed from the reverse.)

Excellent condition. The enamel on the center shield and nickel plating on the wreath are perfect. Minor amount of tarnish to the bomb and wings, not detractive.

/See Borisov, Badges of the Soviet Armed Forces, fig. 259/.
