

Soviet Sculpture, a guide for Soviet arts teachers, 1988.

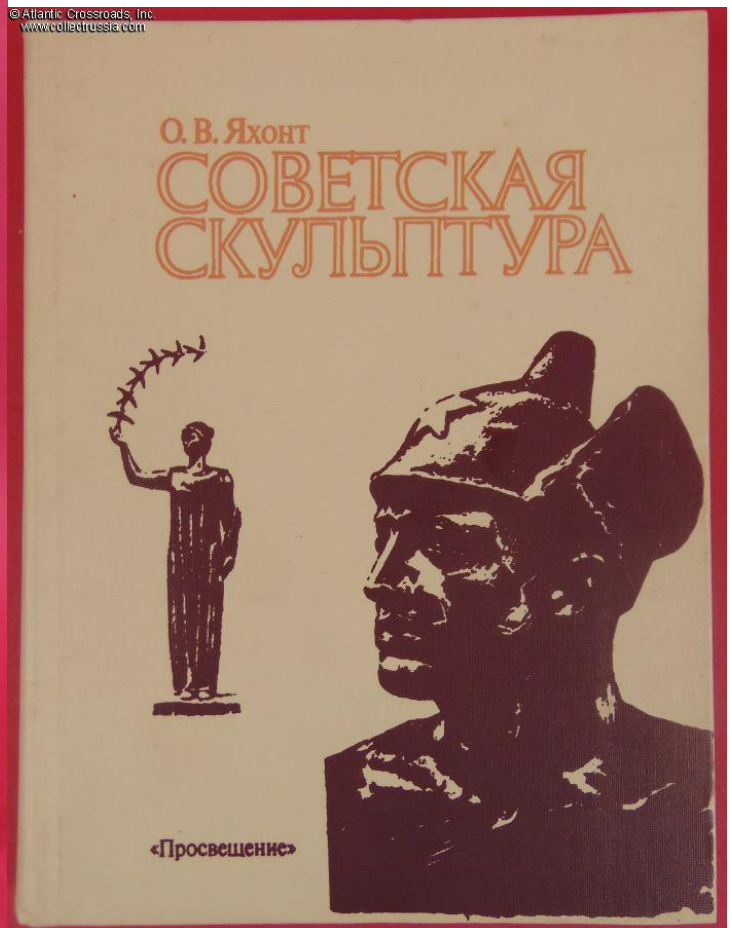

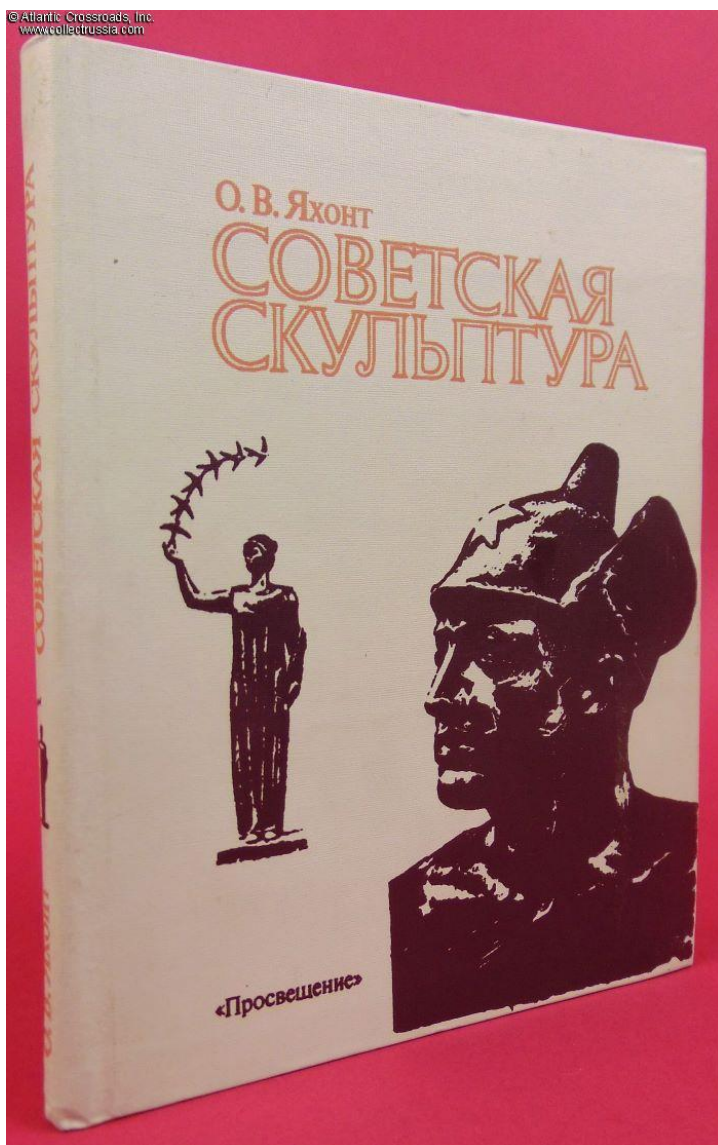

Measures 9" x 6 3/4", 224 pp., hardcover. Russian text. Printed on medium-grade paper, typical for Soviet textbooks. Published by the Enlightenment Publishers, Moscow. Circulation 88,000 copies.

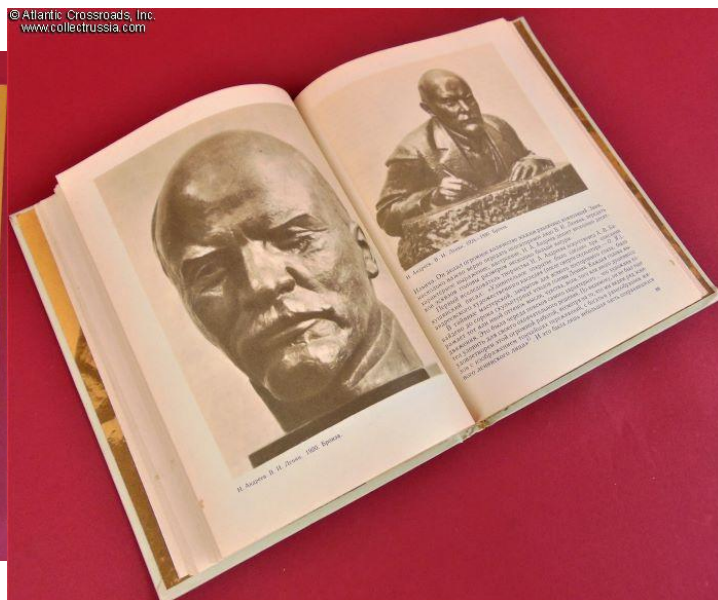

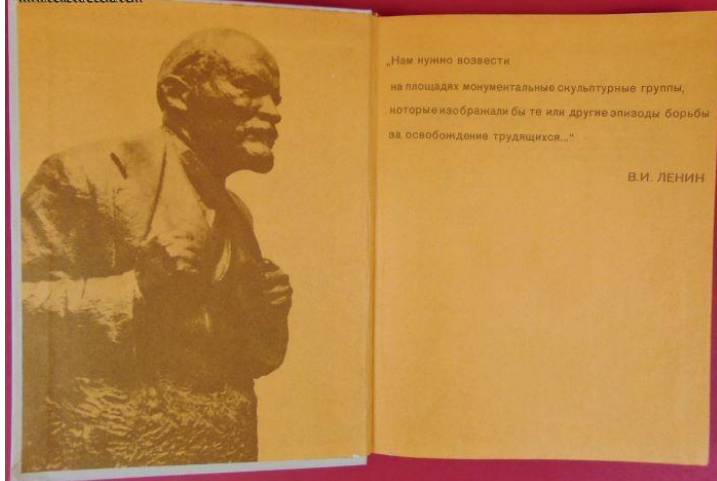

Ideologs of the Soviet government could not leave any aspect of education to the self-determination of its pedagogues. Every discipline, every subject taught at schools from pre-K to universities had to have politically correct instructions and Communist Party guidance on how to teach them. This being a teachers' guide, the authors did not bother with color illustrations. There are many of them but they are all b/w. Having said that, the graphics and text are bright and clear.

In excellent condition. Apart from barely noticeable corner bumps to the top and bottom of the spine, the cover shows just a trace of shelf-life wear whereas the internal pages are in pristine condition.
