

Candy Boat Dish Kazakovo Filigree Style, in white metal alloy, circa 1970s-80s.

Measures approx. 6 ½" long x 3 ¼" wide x 1 ½" tall. Hand-crafted in the Kazakovo filigree style (aka "skan"). The dish features a solid metal bottom and a riveted handle made of a band of solid metal ornamented with twisted wire on both sides.

In very good to excellent condition. The dish is structurally sound. There are no obvious dents or other deformities. Since this is an item made 100% by hand, it is hard to expect machine precision in the curves of the boat shape. The dish is mostly oxidation-free, showing just a few small verdigris spots in random places. If anything, they only add character and an air of age and authenticity to the item.

Please note that the teaspoon in our photo is for size reference.
