

WW2 Propaganda Poster, offset print, circa 1940s-50s publication.

Small format measuring 11 3/4" x 9". An offset print from the original 1940s-50s poster, likely coming from a folio of Soviet propaganda posters published for collectors or as an educational visual aid. Upon close inspection, it becomes clear that Lenin, Stalin, and the war scene in black and white are three separate parts of this collage, superimposed on the red background. The wording, under the title "Forward - toward our victory!" is a quote from Stalin calling out the names of legendary Russian warriors and military leaders of the past - Nevsky, Suvorov, and Kutuzov among them - to inspire the Soviet warriors in their struggle against the Nazis, under the banner of the great Lenin.

In excellent, outstanding condition. There is no wear or damage visible to the naked eye.

This poster will make an excellent compact addition to a Soviet WW2 memorabilia display.

Please note that the medal in our photo is for size reference.
