

Photo ID issued to Arus Asryan, Yerevan City Council of Workers' Deputies, Armenian SSR, 1955.

In booklet format with beveled hard covers wrapped in genuine top grain leather. Measures 3 3/4" x 2 1/2". The front cover shows the republican state emblem of Armenian SSR and the wording, in Armenian and Russian, "Yerevan City Council." Typically for all non-RSFSR republican ID's, the printed material inside is in the language of the republic first, and in Russian, second. In this case, it certifies that Arus Asryan has been elected as a deputy to the Yerevan City Workers' Council, 5th convocation.

In very good condition. The leather of the covers shows mild scuffing, not too obvious. The paint of the embossed state emblem and lettering has completely worn off but the relief of the embossment makes them perfectly clear and legible. The stain inside, looking like it was the result of a coffee spill, is contained to the edges and does not affect the legibility of any printed or handwritten material. The ID photo is in sharp focus, a little un-glued on top. Tilting it to reflect a bright light reveals minor scuffs but those are practically invisible when looking at it at a normal viewing angle.

Please note that the penny in our photo is for size reference.
