

Official Photo Portrait of Stalin in the 4 November 1951 issue of the Ogonyok magazine.

Measures 10" x 13", taken out of the issue of the Ogonyok magazine dedicated to celebration of the 34th anniversary of the October Revolution. This is one of the few stock images of Stalin approved for publication, having very little in common with how Stalin looked less that a year and a half before his death.

In excellent condition. Very mild discoloration along the margins is not too obvious, as are the slight wrinkles on the left side of the page.

The reverse has the editorial of that issue. On the brink of an anniversary of the October Revolution, the content of the editorial is impeccably predictable: the genius of Lenin and Stalin has risen the country out of grief and misery to the blissful socialist reality which is only going to become more blissful and more real under the leadership of the Great Stalin. Long live the great Union of the Soviet Socialist republics, the pillar of peace in the entire world! Long live the great Party of Communists, the party of Lenin-Stalin! Under the leadership of Lenin-Stalin - ahead, toward the victory of Communism!
