SVD Dragunov sniper rifle canvas cover, never used Soviet military surplus, circa mid-1970s - early 1980s.

Made in sturdy canvas with leather straps and nickel-plated steel fittings. About 46" lengthwise, 54" folded. There is a maker mark "Ц" ("Ts") on the inside flap, no other markings.

Excellent, near mint condition. The cover has not been used and shows only a storage age. There is no soiling, tears, mildew, or any other noticeable condition issues. The canvas is clean, free of the typical discoloration spots or rust stains. The buckles are free of oxidation. The canvas has a slightly musty odor, typical of goods held for decades in a Soviet military warehouse. A nice piece of military gear from the Soviet Afghan War era.
